Morning Oregonian.

NO. 81. PORTLAND, OREGON: WEDNESDAY. MAY 3. 1876. PRICE—TEN CENTS.

Saturday last, was found in the river at the foot of Brooklyn street this afternoon. A large rock was found buttoned inside of his coat, and there is now no doubt that he committed suicide.

Indianapolis Election.

INDIANAPOLIS, May 2.—The Republicans carried the city election to-day by a large majority, electing 11 out of 13 councilmen. After the closing of the polls a serious fight was commenced near the Sixth Ward voting place, which was continued northward on Illinois street to the vicinity of the Grand and the Bates' hotel, where it assumed the character of a riot, lasting for 20 or 30 minutes, probably fatally injuring two men. There are at present 8 wounded persons at the Surgical Institute and several others, blacks and whites, are known to have been taken to their homes more or less hurt. It is impossible from the many conflicting accounts to give the immediate cause of the fight.

Black Hills Party.

NEW YORK, May 2.—The Springfield Black Hills party, numbering about 200 men, arrived here to-day, on their way to Yankton, Dakota, by way of Chicago. This expedition is part of the famous Black Hills company of last year, and has been reorganized at Springfield. At Austin they will be joined by Wild Bill's expedition for Big Horn and Saltiel's Yellowstone colony, both from St. Louis, and by other parties along the route, and expect to reach Yanktown about 500 strong. The second detachment of the Arizona colony, 200 strong, also arrived here to day, bound for the valley of the Colorado Chiquihito in Central Arizona.

WASHINGTON CITY.

Winslow, the Forger.

WASHINGTON, May 2. Secretary Fish announced in conversation to day that there was a meeting of the British cabinet last Saturday, at which they determined to adhere to their position not to return Winslow, the forger, unless assurances were given that the accused shall not be tried for the offense other than that with which he is charged. Winslow will, therefore, be unconditionally discharged to-morrow.

The Mary Merritt Case.

C. P. Conant, [illegible] secretary of the treasury, testified in the Bristow matter that he did all the business relating to the release of the Mary Merritt and never exchanged one word with Bristow about it till long after. No money was offered or promised. A large number of other witnesses, mainly attaches of the treasury, were brought out. More witnesses will be examined, but the evidence is immaterial. The investigation is virtually closed.

Ex-Commissioner Drummond.

NEW YORK, May 2.—The report which has been telegraphed to the country of the arrest of ex-Commissioner Willis Drummond and ex-Chief Clerk W. W. Curtis does these gentlemen great injustice. They were simply attached for contempt of court in having failed to appear as witnesses in cases in Colorado, the failure being no fault of theirs, they having been instructed by the United States Attorney not to appear unless so advised by telegraph.

The Alaska Investigation.

The sub committee of ways and means investigating the Alaska matter, to day took the testimony of Louis Goldstone of San Francisco, who says he was the lowest bidder and should have been awarded the lease of the fur seal islands.

Secretary Boutwell appeared before the committee, and after the conclusion of Goldstone's testimony stated the reasons which controlled his action as secretary of the treasury in giving a preference to the bid of the Alaska Commercial Company. Both witnesses referred to the executive documents published by a former Congress as containing the full transaction of the various bids, papers and correspondence relating to the matter, which are now on file in the treasury department. Nothing additional of importance was elicited to-day.

Coin for Rag Money.

The joint resolution introduced in the House to-day by Frost, provides that the Secretary of the Treasury, under such arrangements as will best secure [illegible] throughout the country, may issue the silver coin now in the treasury in the redemption of an equal amount of legal tender notes, and the notes so redeemed shall be reissued only upon the retirement of a like sum of fractional currency, [illegible] and held as a part of the sinking fund, as provided in the act of April 17, 1876.

Grant Relieves Custer.

NEW YORK, May 2.—The World's special says Grant has relieved Custer of command. When the news got to Sherman and Taft, both went to him and suggested that it would not do. Sherman went further and said: "Custer has been my best officer; not only my best man, but the only man to lead the expedition now fitting out against the Indians." To all their protests, Grant turned a deaf ear, saying that Custer came here as a witness in the Belknap business, to besmirch his Administration, and he proposed to stop it. By the advice of Sherman and Taft, Custer went to the White House and sat until the President's time was over, though he repeatedly sent in his card. Finally he wrote to the President. It is understood Grant will publicly assign as reasons for relieving Custer, that he is here and will not be back in time to take charge of his command; but Custer will be back in time, and Grant must make some other excuse to the people.

Blaine's Skirts Clear.

This afternoon Blaine made an elaborate and, it must be admitted, conclusive refutation to the House to the story that he had improperly received a number of Kansas Pacific bonds. The evidence showed that the man who originated the story had admitted his mistake. The day closes here with Blaine's skirts clearer than the rest of the involved Republican Presidential candidates.

Morton will not be Investigated.

The Times' Washington special says representative Springer is in trouble about Morton's war account, and has frightened Morton, but at the suggestion of others, he don't want to investigate the [illegible], and Morton will probably make a personal explanation. In the meantime it is generally thought Springer intentionally helped Morton's candidature.

Custer Ordered to his Regiment.

By direction of the President, Custer has been ordered to his regiment in Dakota and left to-night. He is relieved from farther duty as commanding officer [illegible] brevet rank, and goes simply as Lieut. Colonel. Terry succeeds to the position he occupied before he became a politician. Custer is considerably chop fallen.

There is no formal order from the war department relieving Custer from his command. It is said in military quarters that his detention of that official here as a witness [illegible] the Congressional committee will [illegible] probably prevent his taking command of his portion of the expedition against the Indians now about to be inaugurated. The command [illegible] will be directly under Terry, who is commanding officer of the department of Dakota.

Colorado Agricultural College.

The House committee on agriculture to-day agreed to report a bill giving 6,000 acres of land, or scrip in lieu thereof, to Colorado to establish an agricultural college.

Frauds in Land Surveys.

The committee on public lands will begin discussion of the important question to-morrow in relation to surveying public lands. Thousands of dollars have been stolen by dishonest surveyors, and the entire system needs renovating. It is believed the plan of surveying from monuments established at given points will be adopted.

Indian Appropriation Bill.

The House committee on appropriations has begun consideration of the Indian appropriation bill. The appropriation last year was near $7,000,000. A vary large reduction will be made this year. Reduction is made possible without affecting the efficiency of the Indian service.

Singular Accident.

The Herald's Promontory Station special says: Dom Pedro was detained here by a singular accident. A freight train was wrecked near here by a bull standing on the track, which overturned the engine and eleven cars. Two killed and 2 seriously injured.

The Consular Bill to be Vetoed.

The Tribune's Washington special says Grant will probably veto the consular and diplomatic bill, even if he accepts the modification of the bill. The President intimates that the bill cripples the service, and that it is better to withdraw our representatives than discontinue under circumstances which favor this position.

Will Escape Punishment.

Bets are made here that Belknap will not be punished at all. Even some Democrats will vote against jurisdiction. The case has been badly damaged, owing to Clymer's inconsiderate zeal to make a cheap reputation. The grand jury had not indicted Belknap, and it is doubtful if they will. The Marshes are losing prestige with the government.

Luttrell's Appointment to a Cadetship Failed to Pass.

Walter Bedford, Lutterell's nominee for a West Point Cadetship, has failed to pass the examination and Luttrell now appoints the son of the late Dr. Sproat, of Chico.

Bills and Resolutions in the House.

The House appropriation committee decided to-day to press the postoffice appropriation bill in the House, to the exclusion of all other measures.

Considerable discussion ensued as to whether the Geneva award bill and the Hawaiian treaty should be taken up to day, but the committee finally decided as above.

The judiciary committee adopted a resolution to-day authorizing the sergeant at arms to employ counsel to aid him in prosecuting his appeal before the court in the Kilbourn habeas corpus case.

The House committee on banking and currency this afternoon agreed to recommend the passage of Representative Frost's joint resolution, with certain amendments, as amended, and ordered it to be reported to day if opportunity offers. It proposes to authorize the Secretary of the Treasury to issue ten million dollars of silver coin in exchange for U. S. legal tender notes, which are, however, to be redeemed and retired by an equal amount of fractional currency coming into the treasury as the property of the government. When this is redeemed there is to be no more silver currency than before. The measure designs only for temporary purposes to relieve the present scarcity of small change.

Alabama Claims.

The court of commissioners of Alabama claims met to-day. The case of Joseph Brooks, of San Francisco, for the loss of merchandise by the destruction of the Louisiana by the Shenandoah was discussed.

In another case for the loss of a vessel and cargo, a decision important to all shipping interests was rendered. The Mortanban, which was destroyed by the Alabama, was transferred to the British flag under a mortgage, really as a cover from capture; but Captain Semmes nevertheless burned the vessel. The opinion of Judge Raynor denies the validity of the mortgage and takes the ground that the transfer was forced by dangers incident to the reported presence of the Alabama, and that in fact it was a sham resorted to to deceive Semmes, the commander of the Confederate cruiser.

Confirmations by the Senate.

The Senate confirmed Ferry as Governor of Washington Territory.

Internal Revenue Supervisor Transferred.

F. M. Foulke, supervisor of internal revenue recently on duty in New England, has by order of Bristow been assigned to the supervision of New York State with his headquarters in New York city.

Report of the President of the Centennial Commission.

The President transmitted to the House to-day the report of the president of the Centennial commission upon the ceremonies to be observed at the opening of the exhibition on the 10th, and calls attention to the invitation extended to the Senators and Representatives.

EMMA MINE INVESTIGATION.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—General Schenck was before the committee on foreign affairs to-day. Representative Hewitt placed in the hands of General Schenck the original letter he sent to the chairman of the Emma Mining Co., resigning his position as director, and also a copy of it in the hand writing of Park. He said he was going to ask Park whether this was in his handwriting, but did not do so because the gentleman admitted it. Hewitt examined General Schenck, who said he did not think that much explanation was required, but he expressed his satisfaction that these papers were obtained since. The first of December 7th, before his resignation was sent to the company, was all in his own handwriting—date, body, signature and all. It was his own composition, written at his own suggestion, without anybody's help. In writing out his resignation from the original draft it seemed that he interpolated the words: "In consenting to become director, I knew that I but expressed a private and individual right in no way incompatible with public or official duty; but I prefer to take away from some who have criticised me even a pretext for their comments or attack." Schenck's paper, submitted by Hewitt, seemed to be a copy of his resignation in Park's handwriting. He knew it was not his signature. It was but a copy of what he wrote.

Hewitt called Schenck's attention to several words which had been altered, and Schenck said they looked as if they were in his handwriting; it was the same ink. He did not know why he made the copy.

Park here said the words were in his handwriting.

Hewitt said he was inclined to believe they were.

The examination of Schenck was suspended to permit Senator Conkling to make a statement. He called attention to the letter of J. E. Lyon, dated New York, May 30, 1871, which was addressed to "Dear Tom," saying: "I have Conkling of New York, Stewart and Noah Davis to assist me here, but do not tell a soul but John. I will have them both out, and Blaine too, only he goes straight, but I think he is all right. I am bound to have a trial or a receiver at once." Senator Conkling said, if the Conkling mentioned in his letter meant him, he had only to say it was without foundation in fact. He had no recollection of ever hearing of Lyon until recently. He read his name in newspapers as a party in some way to this investigation, and he had never received any communication from him; he never was engaged or retained, professionally or otherwise, in any matter pertaining to the Emma mine, or in the matter of the removal of any judge in Utah, as referred to in the letter.

Lyon, being [illegible] was permitted to explain. He did so by saying William Heel of San Francisco, one of the owners of the Emma mine, told him he had employed Senator Conkling in their behalf and that their interests were mutual in removing Judge McKean. Lyon said he never [illegible] Senator Conkling in any matter.

Senator Conkling asked whether he had any letter or communication from him?

Lyon replied: Heel, while [illegible] trying of his strength, told him he had secured Senator Conkling.

After this Conkling [illegible], this statement of Lyon enables him to add a word: He [illegible] a gentleman named [illegible], one of a numerous family in New York, calling on him at his house in Utica, and inquiring of him whether an action of replevin and recovery could be brought in New York to gain possession of some [illegible] property which he thought were products of mines, or specimens.

Senator Conkling informed him there would be no difficulty in bringing such an action in any matter within the jurisdiction of the court. He took occasion to speak of Judge McKean in complimentary terms, having served with him in Congress.

The examination of Schenck was resumed, Hewitt asking him various questions as to the propriety of his dealing in stocks, while holding the position of diplomatic representative, during which Schenck replied that he had told the committee of all his transactions and did not think he had violated any rule of propriety.

Chittenden, for Gen. Schenck, recalled Park, and showed him the letter of Gen. Schenck, resigning his position of director in the Emma mine Co. It was dated Dec. 6, 1871. Park said this copy of the letter was in his own handwriting; two words were interlined, "gentlemen." and "fullest," are in his own handwriting, and he knew it. He had no recollection of the circumstances under which the copy was taken; but his impression was he made a copy for some one else. In reply to a question by Hewitt whether he saw Gen. Schenck's letter of resignation before it was sent, Park said he recollected that he conversed with Schenck as to what the letter should state, namely, that he resigned from the company, owing to the criticism because of his holding a position as director, and not because of his dissatisfaction with the Emma property and that Schenck should not say in his letter, that he proposed to hold his shares, because he might want to sell them. But it was sufficient for him merely to say "the stock I now hold." Park thought he saw a draft of the letter and the original; but was not certain. A question pending from last meeting was repeated, namely, what amount of profit Park and his associates made by the sale of Emma mine in London. Park said he had already answered the question to the best of his ability and given every fact within his knowledge that bore on Schenck in connection with the Emma mining company, directly or indirectly. He had stated the amount for which the mine was sold and the amounts disbursed in making the sale. He was willing to answer any question that any member of the committee might propose. He would produce all the books or papers in his possession relating to the transaction. He could not make up a full statement of receipts and disbursements from the commencement to the end, without betraying the business secrets of himself and other parties. There was nothing in any bill of his for the last fifteen years that any member of the committee was not at liberty to examine; but he had no right to produce these books in evidence.

After Park's investigation, Schenck again, with his face purple with rage, denounced the statement that he copied his letter of resignation from the draft in Park's writing as utterly false.

BLAINE'S SPEECH.

In the House of Representatives on Monday, Mr. Blaine, speaking of another slander, said: This story is an old one, and though I was perfectly aware of its industrious circulation in many quarters, I did not refer to it when I spoke last week about the $64,000 slander, because I did not wish to confuse the two in the mind of the public. Being possessed of all the facts needed for the complete refutation of this slander, I desired to wait until I could see it fully and connectedly stated in print. The story consists of two parts, one as to my having a certain interest in the Kansas Pacific road, and the other as to my receiving certain bonds of that road from J. B. Stewart, in the law office of Stewart & Riddle, in this city, several years since. When the circulation of this story was attempted, some three years ago, Hon. A. G. Riddle, who was then, as now, relied upon as a witness by those who concocted the slander, made a certain statement which has never been published.

Blaine read the statement in question in which he (Riddle) declared he had not the slightest knowledge of any bonds delivered to Blaine, and did not even know Blaine by sight. Stewart, Riddle's partner, also wrote Blaine a square denial, and months ago Thomas Ewing, of Ohio, who is always quoted in the matter, as a witness, also denied, in a letter to Blaine any knowledge of the circumstance in question. Blaine read the letters of the New York Sun correspondent and of others written at the time the charge was made years ago, and also their letters on the subject within a month ago, all to the same import, and then continued—I do not think any further contradiction is needed of a story that never had the slightest foundation or truth; but which has been most eagerly and industriously circulated as a twin scandal to the $64,000 falsehood. My excuse for trespassing, even thus briefly, on the kindness of the House is the fact that I desire to give the widest possible publicity to my disproof of the story that has been circulated far and near and yet mostly in secret and never with responsible backers. I now dismiss it with the possibly groundless hope that those who have sought to injure me by repeating it will make proper and honorable amends. One word more: Mr. Speaker—I believe that the country will understand and appreciate the motives that suggest these untruthful accusations. Having now noticed the two that have been so extensively circulated, I shall refrain from calling the attention of the House to any other that may be invented. To quote the language of another, I do not propose to make my public life a perpetual and uncomfortable flea hunt in the vain efforts to run down stories that have no basis in truth, which are usually anonymous and whose total exposition brings no punishment to those who have been guilty of originating them.

The New York Times on Blaine.

The Times' editorial says: This statement on the part of Blaine is so clear and conclusive that it is a pity he did not give it to the country sooner. He hardly needs to have feared that the public would confuse it with the other which he has already made.

Not Satisfied.

The Sun's editorial is not satisfied with Blaine's statement, and declares Blaine must be investigated, and declares his recent lame and insincere explanation is without the least allusion to the responsible author of the charge, who is Mr. Harrison.

Blaine's Defense Considered Complete.

The newspapers generally believe Blaine's defense complete.

The press compliment Sargent's speech.

Chinese Laundry Case.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 2.—This morning Judge McKee, in the third district court, rendered a decision in the case of Hong Hair, Chinese laundryman, for violation of the ordinance imposing a heavy tax on laundries not employing a horse and wagon, who applied for his discharge on a writ of habeas corpus, declaring the ordinance oppressive and void, and ordered the plaintiff's discharge.

Suicide.

This afternoon, a man named Trembyn, who resided at the Mission, committed suicide by shooting himself, on the corner of Second and Shotwell streets. Family and financial troubles are assigned as the cause.

An Unacceptable Tax.

The board of supervisors needing more money to replenish their exhausted funds, talk of levying a sort of income tax on the public. Last evening Bryan presented an ordinance to collect licenses from certain professions and branches of trade that have not heretofore been taxed. In this particular the list is a long one and the adoption of the ordinance will likely cause a good deal of growling from all quarters.

More Crooked Whisky Arrests.

On the complaint of Special Revenue Agent Clarke, U. S. Commissioner O'Bierne to-day arrested Jas. McLaughlin, Jeremiah Field, Peter Noonan, Lawrence Rice, Frank Gallopie and Chas. Rosenbaum, employes at Bay View distillery, which was seized [illegible] for infraction of the revenue laws. They were released from custody after giving bonds.

Meeting of the Water Commissioners.

The water commissioners under Rogers' bill, whose duty it is to investigate the sources of the water supply for the city on the peninsula and in other parts of the State, met to-day and organized by choosing Mayor Bryant president. Geo. H. Mendell, Captain U. S. Engineers, was appointed engineer of the board. He will at once proceed to examine the peninsula and ascertain its capabilities for water supply.

Removal of Chinese Patients from the Pest House.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 2.—The mayor was expectant yesterday of a visit from the presidents of the Chinese companies, who were asked to give an answer relative to the removal of the Chinese inmates of the pest house. They failed to appear, however, but sent a representative, who said they had not as yet made up their minds. The authorities have no faith in the promises of the companies, and to-day the patients, with the exception of the Chinese lepers, will be turned out.

Chinese Quarters Set on Fire and Destroyed.

ANTIOCH, Cal., May 1.—A fire occurred here which was the culmination of an excitement which has been growing since last Saturday, when one of the doctors informed various parties that several boys had visited a Chinese house of prostitution on the outskirts of the town and were now, in consequence, under his treatment. In a short time their parents heard of it and extreme measures were talked of, but better counsel prevailed. On Saturday morning thirty-five or forty citizens proceeded to the Chinese dens and notified them to leave town before 3 o'clock, or trouble would ensue. This all promised to do, and several of them started up the river in a sail-boat for Stockton and others taking the steamer for San Francisco. Among the latter was one woman who was nearly gone with disease. A boss Chinaman was sent with them, but much against his will, it requiring the efforts of two men to get him on the boat. It being supposed that the woman had left for good, the excitement subsided. However, on Saturday afternoon, it was reported that the woman who had started for Stockton had returned, which revived the excitement of Saturday, but nothing occurred to disturb the serenity of the Sabbath until about 8 P. M., when a cry of fire was raised, and it was soon apparent that action had been taken. Chinatown was on fire, and a crowd of curious lookers-on assembled, together with the fire company, but little was done to stay the progress of the fire, and all but two of the buildings were destroyed—the inmates fleeing terror stricken. How the fire was started, no one knows. To-day the remaining buildings have been removed, and Antioch is now free from this degraded class.

Explosion of Giant Powder.

SMARTSVILLE, May 1.—A box containing giant powder cartridges, with caps attached, exploded in front of the blacksmith shop of Deer Creek tunnel, Mooney Flat, this afternoon, demolishing the shop and severely injuring Allen Presly, blacksmith. The extent of Presly's injuries are not yet known. Jas. Conroy, who was in the shop, was thrown out, but escaped without injury.

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

Colonial Legislature.

VICTORIA, May 1.—The time of the House was principally occupied Thursday and Friday in discussing the new municipality bill, Cariboo road toll, and the school tax bills.

A petition was presented signed by a few Catholic residents, with the usual objections to the school system of Godless anti-Christians or Protestants, unjust taxation, etc.

Papers were laid before the House reflecting severely on the management of the superintendent of the lunatic asylum.

The Cariboo road tolls bill passed on Friday by a majority of more than three to one. It provides for the collection of one-half cent per pound on goods leaving Yale for above, and one-half cent per pound on goods leaving Clinton for above. The products of the country and goods coming toward the seaboard are free. It is the intention of the government to put the road in complete repair, and it will require $100,000. A party of workmen, it is expected, will leave by the steamer California on the 7th of May for Cassiar to repair the roads and bridges.

The steamer Dakota sailed at 7 P. M. Saturday for San Francisco.

The steamers Grappler and Gertrude sailed on Sunday for Stikine river with 50 white and 130 Chinese passengers.

Anti-Chinese Movement.

VICTORIA, May 2.—In the House yesterday, the special tax bill passed by a vote of 17 to 6. A resolution was passed that the House go into committee of the whole for the purpose of considering the expediency of taking some steps for preventing the country from being flooded with Chinese, ruinous to the best interests, particularly of the laboring classes of British Columbia. It was thought the Chinese question would soon assume a serious form here, as the people of California are driving them from their shores. Consideration of the question comes up on Wednesday next.

A large and somewhat noted meeting of citizens was held at the Theater last evening, the mayor presiding. The object of the meeting being to consider the question of the introduction of Chinese labor. One of the speakers was greeted by groanings and hisses for defending the Chinese. A resolution stating that it was the belief of the meeting that the majority of Chinese imported to this country were slaves purchased in China; that white men are degraded by any laws that permit slavery in any shape, and endorsing a petition to legislature imposing a tax of $50 on each Chinaman entering the gold diggings at Cassiar, was passed unanimously.

NEVADA.

Virginia City Election.

VIRGINIA, May 2.—The election to-day passed off quietly. The Republicans elected the chief of police, assessor and three aldermen. The Democrats elected the mayor, treasurer and one alderman.

CONGRESSIONAL.

Senate.

[Conclusion of Monday's proceedings.]

Frelinghuysen said he made the recent decision of the supreme court annulled the laws enacted by the State of California in reference to Chinese immigration. He suggested it would be advisable for Congress to enact some law which would be acceptable to all parties. The decision of the supreme court was upon the ground that the subject was one that pertained to the federal government and not the State government. He had been told that most of these Chinese immigrants were from Hongkong. If that was so, the matter could be regulated by a treaty with England, instead of a treaty with China.

Sargent said several propositions had been made to remedy the evil. One was that not more than ten Chinese immigrants should be landed from any one vessel. He would not undertake to say what plan was most desirable to the people of California. He thought if the attention of the executive was called to the matter, [illegible] might be agreed upon between the two governments which would afford relief.

Edmunds said immigration of vicious persons and paupers was not confined to the Pacific slope; but all sections of the country suffered therefrom. The supreme court of the United States decided that no law which a State could pass to forbid the introduction of persons into the country would be valid. Now that it was finally settled and determined that State laws were of no avail, it was the duty of Congress to make some law on the subject. He suggested that the resolution be referred to the committee on foreign relations, which committee could look into the provisions of the treaty. The committee on commerce might be instructed to inquire into the subject and to report [illegible] measures as they might deem expedient to prevent immigration. Pending the discussion the Senate adjourned.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—Allison, from the committee on Indian affairs, reported favorably on the House bill appropriating $50,000 for [illegible] and supplies for the Apache Indians in Arizona Territory, and for the removal of the Indians of Chiricahua agency to San Carlos agency. [illegible]

Conkling explained that the delay in [illegible] the steamboat act recently passed by the House was to enable the persons interested to [illegible] such facts as they desired.

Edmunds, of Vt., submitted the following and asked its immediate consideration:

Resolved, That the committee on commerce be and is hereby instructed to inquire what legislation if any, is necessary and expedient to provide regulations [illegible] the immigration or arrival of persons in the United States from other countries, with the view of securing the people against the evils of pauperism, crime and other injuries to morals and to the order of society, and with the view of securing lawful aid to the [illegible] in the [illegible] and police [illegible] and that said committee report by bill or otherwise.

Laid over.

[illegible] submitted an amendment in the nature of a substitute for the House bill to prevent the solicitation, contribution or [illegible] by any officer or employe of the government of money, property or other things of value for political purposes.

Ordered printed.

Edmunds submitted a resolution directing the commissioners of the District of Columbia to inform the Senate whether the standard of qualification of teacher, text books, mode of punishment of pupils, rules, regulations and general [illegible] in the white and colored schools are the same in the district, and if any discrimination exists in the management of said schools, or in any respect aforesaid, that they inform the Senate in what such differences consist, and the [illegible] therefor.

Agreed to.

The resolution of Hamlin, to amend the rules so as to provide that the deliberations of the Senate in impeachment trials shall be public, was taken up and discussed until the expiration of the morning hour, when it was laid over and the consideration of the bill in relation to the Japanese indemnity fund was resumed.

The pending amendment to the bill is the one making it read, "That the President be and is hereby authorized to return from the Japanese indemnity fund the sum of $125,000, to be used in the manner hereinafter provided, and is further authorized to pay over to the government of Japan the residue of said fund." &c.

Frelinghuysen spoke in favor of returning the fund, exclusive of $125,000 to be reserved to pay the officers and crews of the U. S. ships Wyoming and Jamestown for the destruction of pirates [illegible] in 1863 and the bombardment of the hostile forts in the Straits of Simonoseki in 1864. He spoke at length on the treaties with Japan, the [illegible] of the indemnity fund, &c., and argued that the money should be returned to Japan as a matter of justice.

Edmunds moved that the further consideration of the bill be postponed indefinitely.

Thurman said the action of the Wyoming and Jamestown was among the most gallant acts in the naval history of our country. He quoted from the reports of committees made heretofore to the House and Senate, and argued that it was on account of the valor displayed by the officers and crews of those [illegible] that the [illegible] fund was paid to the United States.

Edmunds argued that the United States had obtained the money upon just principles of public indemnity, and an exorbitant sum had not been exacted. Referring to the treaties made with Japan, he said the Japanese made them without any intention of having them carried into effect. If the United States had not resorted to the exercise of power, not one of the ports mentioned in these treaties would have been opened to this country. In conclusion, he wished the Senate to definitely postpone the bill.

The question then being to strike out the words "if not incompatible with the relations of the United States to other powers," it was agreed to.

Sargent moved to strike out the first section of the bill, which provides for the return of the fund to Japan after deducting $125,000 to pay the officers and crews of the Wyoming and Jamestown.

Pending the discussion, the Senate adjourned.

NARRATIVE,

OF THE WINTER TRIP ACROSS THE ROCKY MOUNTAINS OF DR. MARCUS WHITMAN AND HON. A. LAWRENCE LOVEJOY, IN 1842, FURNISHED BY REQUEST, FROM MR. LOVEJOY, THE SURVIVOR.

OREGON CITY, Feb. 14, 1876.

DR. ATKINSON—Dear Sir: In compliance with your request, I will endeavor to give you some idea of the journey of the late Dr. Marcus Whitman from Oregon to Washington, in the winter of 1842 and '43. True, I was the Doctor's traveling companion in that arduous and trying journey, but it would take volumes to describe the many thrilling scenes and dangerous hairbreadth escapes we passed through, traveling, as we did, almost the entire route through a hostile Indian country, and enduring much suffering from the intense cold and snow we had to encounter in passing over the Rocky mountains in mid-winter. I crossed the Plains in company with Dr. White and others, and arrived at Waiilatpu the last of September, 1842. My party camped some two miles below Dr. Whitman's place. The day after our arrival Dr. Whitman called at our camp and asked me to accompany him to his house, as he wished me to draw up a memorial to Congress to prohibit the sale of ardent spirits in this country. The Doctor was alive to the interests of this coast, and manifested a very warm desire to have it properly represented at Washington, and after numerous conversations with the Doctor, touching the future prosperity of Oregon, he asked me one day in a very anxious manner, if I thought it would be possible for him to cross the mountains at that time of the year? I told him I thought he could. He then said, "Will you accompany me?" After a little reflection, I told him I would. His arrangements were speedily made. Through the kindness of Mr. McKinly, then stationed at Fort Walla Walla, Mrs. Whitman was provided with suitable escort to the Willamette valley, where she was to remain with her mission friends until the doctor's return. We left Waiilatpu October 3, 1842, traveled rapidly, reached Fort Hall in eleven days, remained two days to recruit and make a few purchases. The doctor engaged a guide and we left for Fort Winte. We changed from a direct route to one more southern, through the Spanish country via Salt Lake, Taos and Santa Fe. On our way from Fort Hall to Fort Winte, we had terribly severe weather. The snows retarded our progress and blinded the trail so we lost much time. After arriving at Fort Winte and making some purchases for our trip, we took a new guide and started for Fort Uncompagre, situated on the waters of Grand river, in the Spanish country. Here our stay was very short. We took a new guide and started for Taos. After being out some four or five days we encountered a terrible snow storm, which forced us to seek shelter in a deep ravine, where we were snowed in for some days, at which time the storm had somewhat abated, and we attempted to make our way out upon the high lands, but the snow was so deep and the wind so piercing and cold we were compelled to return to camp and wait a few days for a change of weather. Our next effort to reach the high lands was more successful, but after spending several days wandering about in the snow without making much headway, our guide told us that the deep snow had so changed the face of the country that he was completely lost and could take us no further. This was a terrible blow to the doctor, but he was determined not to give it up without another effort. We at once agreed that the doctor should take the guide and return to Fort Uncompagre and get a new guide, and I remain in camp with the animals until he could return, which he did in seven days with our new guide, and we were now on our route again. Nothing of much importance occurred but hard and slow traveling through deep snow until we reached Grand river, which was frozen on either side about one third. Although so intensely cold, the current was so very rapid about one third of the river in the center was not frozen. Our guide thought it would be dangerous to attempt to cross the river in its present condition, but the doctor, nothing daunted, was the first to take the water. He mounted his horse, the guide and myself shoved the doctor and his horse off the ice into the foaming stream. Away he went completely under water, horse and all, but directly came up, and after buffeting the waves and foaming current he reached the ice on the opposite side, a long way down the stream. He leaped from his horse upon the ice and soon had his noble animal by his side. The guide and myself forced in the pack animals and followed the doctor's example, and were soon on the opposite shore drying our frozen clothes by a comfortable fire. We reached Taos in about thirty days, suffered greatly from cold and scarcity of provisions. We were compelled to use mule meat, dogs, and such other animals as came in our way. We remained at Taos a few days only, and started for Bent's and Savery's Fort, on the head waters of the Arkansas river. When we had been out some 15 or 20 days, we met George Bent, a brother of Gov. Bent, on his way to Taos. He told us that a party of mountain men would leave Bent's Fort in a few days for St. Louis, but said we would not reach the fort with our animals in time to join the party. The doctor being very anxious to join the party so he could push on as rapidly as possible to Washington, concluded to leave me and the guide with the animals, and he himself taking the best animal with some bedding and a small allowance of provision, he started alone, hoping by rapid travel to reach the fort in time to join the St. Louis party, but to do so he would have to travel on the Sabbath, something we had not done before. Myself and guide traveled on slowly and reached the fort in four days, but imagine our astonishment when on making inquiry about the doctor we were told that he had not arrived nor had he been heard of. I learned that the party for St. Louis was camped at the Big Cottonwood, forty miles from the fort, and at my request Mr. Savery sent an express, telling the party not to proceed any further until we learned something of Dr. Whitman's whereabouts, as he wished to accompany them to St. Louis. Being furnished by the gentlemen of the fort with a suitable guide I started in search of the doctor, and traveled up the river about one hundred miles. I learned from the Indians that a man had been there who was lost and was trying to find Bent's Fort. They said they had directed him to go down the river and how to find the fort. I knew from their description it was the doctor. I returned to the fort as rapidly as possible, but the doctor had not arrived. We had all become very anxious about him. Late in the afternoon he came in very much fatigued and desponding; said that he knew that God had bewildered him to punish him for traveling on the Sabbath. During the whole trip he was very regular in his morning and evening devotions, and that was the only time I ever knew him to travel on the Sabbath.

The doctor remained all night at the Fort, starting early on the following morning to join the St. Louis party. Here we parted. The doctor proceeded to Washington. I remained at Bent's Fort until spring, and joined the doctor the following July near Fort Laramie on his way to Oregon, in company with a train of emigrants. He often expressed himself to me about the remainder of his journey and the manner in which he was received at Washington and by the board for foreign missions at Boston. He had several interviews with President Tyler, Secretary Webster and a good many members of Congress, Congress being in session at that time. He urged the immediate termination of the treaty with Great Britain relative to this country, and begged them to extend the laws of the United States over Oregon, and asked for liberal inducements to emigrants to come to this coast. He was very cordially and kindly received by the President and members of Congress, and without doubt the Doctor's interviews resulted greatly to the benefit of Oregon and to this coast. But his reception at the board for foreign missions was not so cordial. The board was inclined to censure him for leaving his post. The doctor came to the frontier [illegible] the [illegible] to emigrate to the Pacific. He left Independence, Missouri, in the month of May, 1843, with an emigrant train of about one thousand souls, for Oregon. With his energy and knowledge of the country, he rendered them great assistance in fording the many dangerous and rapid streams they had to cross, and in [illegible] through many of the [illegible] in the mountains. He arrived at Waiilatpu about one year from the time he left, to find his home sadly [illegible] burnt to the ground. ## SOME SUGGESTIONS FOR TO-DAY

We trust the delegates to the State Convention which is to assemble in this city to day will not deem it an unwarranted liberty upon them if we once more remind them of the delicate situation in which they are placed by the peculiar condition of public sentiment in the party for which they are called to act or, if they deem it an unwarranted liberty that they will attribute it to an undue anxiety to see such a course pursued as will cement the party together for the purpose of the national election now soon at rather than to any less disinterested motive. The truth must impress itself upon the mind of every delegate who has a full appreciation of the situation that without the united strength of the whole Republican party success is impossible. To make it impossible to secure such united support for the nominee, whether through a blunder or through the holding on to the personal animosities engendered by past controversy would be the most fatal folly. The State Central Committee recognizing the truth of this made the call for the convention broad and liberal, and invited all who believed in the principles of the Republican party and desired to see those principles triumphant to unite in sending up delegates. The invitation was given in the true spirit of Republican freedom and in the same spirit has been accepted by the mass of those Republicans who for some time past have not affiliated with the organization. Among the delegates are both independent Republicans and straight Republicans. By thus coming together under the form of the call they have said that they desire to co-operate for the purpose of electing a Republican President and a Republican Congressman and that for the purpose of carrying that object most certainly into effect, they are willing to make no question upon the past record of any man, so far as party fealty is concerned. What ever may be their individual views upon the propriety of party tests in local affairs they agree that much is due to party in the choice of Chief Magistrate of the nation and that since the national administration has, or ought to have nothing to do with the local disagreements in the national party those disagreements ought to form no line of demarcation so far as the national election goes. We believe they disagree further that as a means of avoiding dissensions which might affect the national candidates it is desirable that there be, as much as possible, harmonious action in minor matters.

The Convention should and we feel assured will take these facts into careful account in all its proceedings. A party which has been vexed and rent by local differences as the Republican party in Oregon has been cannot be counted on for the same degree of discipline that prevails where no such disturbing causes have existed. Many of its members will not possess the philosophy to repress their sensitiveness and receive without resentment criticism which under different circumstances might be passed by without the slightest interruption of relations of cordiality. It becomes then, exceedingly important to the party at large that delegates should endeavor to cultivate amity and good feeling rather than to reopen old wounds. Under the wisely framed call there are no inferiors or superiors in the Convention there are no Independents or Straightouts; there are only Republicans, seeking by fair and honorable methods to accomplish an end which all earnestly desire to see accomplished. We think it will be allowed that we are in a situation to know much of the feelings and wishes of the independent Republicans and we venture to state that the great mass of them would not object to a candidate merely because he had voted the straight party ticket through the period of division. We profess to know also what is the common sentiment in the ranks of the Straight Republicans, and that sentiment is that it matters not what side has been taken by a Republican in our local controversies, so he is a true man with true Republican principles, who can be relied on to use his best exertions to secure the triumph of those principles in the national government. Prudence would dictate that due weight be given in the selection of candidates to any personal relations sustained by them which might make it difficult to unite all Republicans in their support. Nobody should be required to eat any dirt in this campaign. No man should be expected to humiliate himself before the country in order to support a nominee. In fact, no man with sufficient spirit to make him a good citizen can be so humiliated. That is the main point to be guarded. For our own part though we have declined to support the nominees of the party when the stake to the country was trifling and we thought duty pointed in another direction we frankly declare that we shall not object to any candidate merely because he thought duty required him to stick closely to his party. An objection coming from either side which goes no deeper than that is unworthy to be heard in a convention or before the people.

Another matter. It has been charged in times past that nominations were brought about by bargains and trades. We hope and believe this will not be the case in the present convention. But the very appearance of all such proceedings should be well guarded. This is a point upon which the public mind is [illegible] sensitive. [illegible]

[illegible]

Let the convention remember this and avoid the trifles that may cause disaster to an honestly elected ticket.

Again we apologize to the convention for this expression of our views and assure them we have not done so without reflecting upon it in the solemn manner until we felt an unshaken conviction of the correctness and of the timeliness of the suggestions.

An Oregonian now in Washington who is a shrewd calculator of political forces and probabilities in a private telegram yesterday to a friend in this city says: "Morton's weakness South excites surprise. Blaine will beat him two to one in the Southern States. Maryland will instruct for Blaine Thursday. In Massachusetts Blaine has eighteen delegates and Bristow eight. It is now apparent that Blaine is the choice of the country with Bristow for his only possible competitor. The nomination of either of these would be satisfactory while the selection of Morton or Conkling by the National Convention would in all human probability result in the election of a Democratic President."

Judge Kinsey of Yamhill writes to say that the story of an agreement between him and Mr James McCain concerning the office of District attorney for the third district is unqualifiedly and utterly false. He and Mr McCain dissolved partnership some time ago, and there is not the slightest foundation for the report of the existence of any arrangement between them. As the story was given the public in a correspondence to this paper we take great pleasure in correcting it as we desire to do no one an injustice.

A Philadelphia telegram says Dr Wm Shackleford will in all probability be one of the Centennial judges.

A GAME THAT ALL OUGHT TO UNDERSTAND

MAY 1 1876

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

Since Gen E L Applegate in his treatise entitled a "New Deal" (patent applied for) has been followed by Senator Mitchell in a proposition that might be entitled "Straddling the Blind," and much barbaric yawp and native Oregonian eloquence has been expended thereon permit me to suggest a plan which may properly be designated "An honest way to turn Jack from the top instead of from the bottom," by which homely phraseology the General and the Senator will more readily understand me than if I labored long with post-tuates syllogism logic or hypothesis.

To be brief my plan would be to invite a general vote of the party as a legislative guide at the election preceding the legislative sitting in which a Senator has to be chosen so that every voter of like political faith could be heard informally at the polls and give utterance to his wishes for his Senatorial preference. What plan could be more Democratic or better devised to get at the wishes of the dear people? The General and the Senator know there is none and that the caucus or the convention are both poor subterfuges to give voice to the wishes of a people. No agent will do so well or act so impartially for a constituency as the constituency itself. Therefore I call off with this attempt of the "Blind leading the blind" that the process I have indicated (which is not patented) may be used freely by the people for the people.

C [illegible]

The World's London special thus summarizes a recent article in the London Times on the absence of the Queen and royal family from England. The substance of it is:

If you can get on without us we can get on with out you. This is emphasized by pointing out that not only is the Queen gone but the Prince of Wales is at Cairo, the Duke of Edinburgh is on his way back from St Petersburg, the Duke of Connaught is at Gibraltar and Prince Leopold is at Nice— so that for some days the sovereign, the heir to the crown and all his brothers will be out of the kingdom and the royal line will be represented by the Prince Albert Victor of Wales aged 12 years. There is no regency act and no lords justices have been appointed to take charge of things during this interregnum. And yet things go on about as usual. If a Republican or even a rather radical Liberal made remarks of this sort they would perhaps, though just not signify greatly. But in the columns of the leading journal of England—a journal in all essential things the most conservative journal of England—they signify a great deal.

THE PRINCE OF WALES AT LAHORE.—The Prince's cortege made a long sweep round the town (Lahore) passing in front of a series of encampments of the rajahs and chiefs of the Punjaub who had come to do him honor. These were all drawn up for miles in front of their respective camps. Before each floated the banner of the rajah. The elephants with gold and silver howdahs stood in line. Then there were led horses in gold and silver saddle cloths and jeweled caparisons. Each chief's armed retainers regular and irregular were drawn up lining the roadway on both sides. Lance and swords sparkled armor flashed morion cuirass, plume banner all was light and beautiful and such a combination of colors as fairly astonished the beholder and forced him to close his eyes for a moment and ask if it was a dream. Never was anything more beautiful. The very spirit of chivalry hovered over these martial faces and noble forms the grand stately chiefs making obeisance the roll of the drums the blare of the trumpets and the clang and outburst of strange instruments. Such might have been the triumphant procession of Saladin or of Timour himself, but for the villainous saltpeter and those firearms. Masters of lance falchion and shield fenced in by this extraordinary pageantry stood or squatted silent motionless. Who some time hence will be designated by native reformers the majesty of the people was also on flat house tops and on walls and seemed much taken with the aspect of its princely brother whom it was able to recognize by reason of the gold umbrella carried over his head in the governor's carriage.—London Times.

Senator Hamlin continues to receive the fond attentions of the newspapers. The Utica Observer has embalmed his postage views in verse which will be liable to live a good deal longer than any recollection of the Senator's statesmanship. As near as we can get at Hamlin's idea of a schedule of postal charges says the editor he would have—a one-cent stamp for a circulair, a two cent stamp for a sealed lettair, a ten cent stamp for a newspapair and a great big frank for the Senatair Hannibal Hamlin' rip and tear for the friendless newspapair.

It is rumored that efforts are being made to induce Mr W J Hill of the Idaho Avalanche to remove his paper from Silver to Baker City.

COMPLETE WASHER

WITH GREAT SATISFACTION WE ANNOUNCE to the wonderful qualities of the "COMPLETE WASHER" Machine, which is in use by many of the best families in our city, it makes the wash day one of pleasure, and [illegible] no wear on clothing or tire to operator. It is by excessive and exhaustive labor by the women of our land, who are toiling all day long on an ordinary family washing in the hot suds wearing away their knuckle bones and very lives every week in the year and going out from the washing tub to the cold air which causes our mothers, sisters and loved ones to take cold so easily, causing pains in the back and limbs rheumatism pleurisy, chills and fever etc sometimes resulting in death. Ladies rescue yourselves from this thraldom and purchase a "Complete Washer" the Premium Washer of our land which economizes time and does away with this excessive labor for you know that for one to handle by hand large articles such as quilts etc that it is exceedingly difficult by the old mode. We advise and entreat everybody there fore to have one of these Machines. They are within the reach of every family.

Best of Wringers and Clothes Lines always on hand.

Of the great number who have this Machine in Oregon and on the Pacific slope not one would part with it. Hundreds and thousands of such testimonials could be gotten.

RITTER, THE DEFAULTER.

Our readers will remember the account given in the OREGONIAN some time since of Ritter the defaulting treasurer of Laramie county Wyoming, for whose arrest a reward of $1 000 was offered and who was recently captured at Eugene City In custody of Sheriff Brophy the prisoner arrived safely at his destination a few weeks since.

He was interviewed by a reporter at Laramie from which it is learned that Ritter, after skipping out of Laramie last fall took the Denver train at Cheyenne proceeded directly to St Louis, where he remained ten days under medical treatment then went to New York with a view of taking a ship for the Pacific coast but not finding one ready to sail he recuperated his health at Providence R I for about ten days He then sailed from New York, around Cape Good Hope, and northward to British Columbia but finally brought up at Portland Oregon Remaining there but a few days he went southward to Roseburg, where he was suddenly accosted in the street with "How are you Ritter?" by one McDonald a gambler from Cheyenne The fleeing defaulter was so much disconcerted that he took McDonald for a U S detective, and offered to surrender himself It happened that the city marshal was a listener and going to the sheriff of the county asked him if Ritter was not the name of the man for whom there was a reward offered He replied that he was and straightway dispatched a deputy named Hogan in pursuit but Ritter had departed and Hogan had a long journey for nothing Coming back, he found his man at Eugene City where he was arrested Ritter says that he had made up his mind to be a fugitive no longer and had telegraphed home for money to bring him back, the night before his arrest At any rate he had a strong disgust for Oregon mists, and told some of the web footers that he would sooner live in the Wyoming penitentiary than have a farm in Oregon

When Sheriff Brophy reached that land of mud and mire he had a 300 mile journey by stage from Portland to Eugene City over the worst roads in Christendom One day they made but six miles having frequently to dig the horses out of the mud, and often the coach got over only 12 miles of mire per day The reward was divided—$200 going to the city marshal of Roseburg and the remaining $800 divided equally between the sheriff and Deputy Hogan, who made the arrest The expense of sheriff Brophy s trip was nearly $800

Examination was waived by Ritter s counsel, Downey & Kingman, and his bonds were fixed at $15 000 Messrs. Bramer & Caldwell and M C Brown are engaged for the prosecution. There is great interest manifested as to the probable result of the trial

UP THE COLUMBIA.

J. J B" writing from Umatilla under date of the 30th ult, says

We left your beautiful city for the Cascades on the 18th inst. At the Cascades we had rain, hail and snow—first one then the other and then all three A run of four or five miles on the cars brought us to the lower wharf of the Daisy Ainsworth This is a beautiful boat After a quick transfer from cars to steamer we glided up the swift running waters" of the Columbia By 3 o'clock P M we had passed from under the cloud into the glorious sunshine the beauty and grandeur of the scene was ravishing The grass clad hills on both sides of the river falling back and rising as they fell until their distant summits blended with an elevated horizon, with the Columbia sweeping between, on whose bosom floated the Daisy Ainsworth like a thing of life made up a picture grand and sublime; At every turn of the river the scene shifted; but each succeeding panorama was no less captivating than the first. The air was a quiver with the carols of wooing birds, while grazing herds in sweet confusion ruminated over a "thousand hills"

The Dalles is not the place of business it was ten years ago While on a stroll through the city we saw many superb residences, indicative of wealth and prosperity Some of these are owned by stockmen, whose families reside therein during the winter that their children may receive the benefit of the fine schools at that place.

Umatilla City forcibly reminds one of some dilapidated individual who has known better days. The ever drifting sand has been waging a relentless war upon the little desert waif from its conception In my next I will speak of the grazing facilities of Umatilla county, of its farming lands and of its thousands of cattle sheep and horses

BAKER COUNTY POLITICS.

A private letter from Baker county gives the following account of political matters in that section of the State:

The political situation is amusing in some of its phases. The Democracy led by the "ring" foisted a ticket last month which a majority of the people do not seem inclined to endorse. The Republicans and tax payers met on the 12th inst. and in combined convention nominated a ticket which meets the hearty approval of the people generally, as far as I can learn, irrespective of party. A ticket composed of men of known honesty and integrity.

No shysters need apply, and if the people of this county consult their own interests, it is a ticket which will be elected by a rousing majority in June. The county is greatly in debt (no one knows how much, or if they do know, it is kept a secret) but it is known to be a large amount and is variously estimated at from $15,000 to $80,000. One who is presumed to know whereof he speaks says it is $15,000 or over. The County Treasurer has failed to make a report for six years, and under the circumstances it seems high time that the ring was straightened out, a new deal had, and the people informed as to how much they owe. This is the object of the tax payers' ticket, and if it don't win the joy in the hearts of "our folk's brother-in-law," the "Sandwich Island man," and the ring will be unbounded. Judging from the gushings of scurrility and personal abuse which the editor of the Bedrock Democrat consents to father, as appears in the issue of the 19th inst. and other dates, one would suppose that they were much pushed for honorable opposition timber, the assertion that those editorials were "but surface diggings to what will follow" to the contrary notwithstanding. Proceed, gentlemen ?) When the battle is over we expect to bury no dead, and if we have any scars they will be honorable ones. A call for a mass meeting to nominate a straight Republican ticket having been published, signed "Many True Republicans," on the date specified in the call (Monday, 24th inst.) "many true Republicans were there, and the meeting was duly organized by calling Dr Atwood to the chair, and Mr. Bently as secretary. To get the sense of the meeting, the following resolution was offered by Mr. Hull, who moved its adoption:

Resolved, As true Republicans, having the best interests of the party and country at heart, we feel it our duty, aside from political issues, to endorse the "Tax payers' ticket," and we would appeal to every voter of the county to do the same.

On the vote being taken, there were but two dissenting voices, one of which emanated from the chair aforesaid. "Many true Republicans" had been found. No further business appearing, the meeting adjourned sine die.

The authors of the plot are pretty well known and, of course, are accredited to the Democrats, who are known to be able in concocting—fizzles. Another straw to show how sick some of them are, and I am done. One candidate, who wanted to visit Salem this fall, now sadly bemoans the lot of those who are up for office, and after pouring into the ear of sorrowful friends a pathetic account of the abuse and slander they are subjected to, winds up with a shake of his Andrew Jackson locks in the air, and the exclamation that "he'd be dog digged to Jerico if he would run for a thousand dollars. No, sir, by dash." Poor fellow; wonder if a few oysters on the half-shell would do him any good?

Lucy—(to her elder sister, who had just been relating a thrilling episode in the life of William Tell)—"And was the little boy allowed to eat the apple afterwards?"

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

Commercial.

TUESDAY EVENING, May 2, 1876.

Gold in New York, 112¼@⅜.

Legal Tenders in Portland—buying 88½; selling 90½.

Coin Exchange on San Francisco ¼ per cent.

Coin Exchange on New York ¾ per cent premium.

Telegraphic transfers on New York 1 per cent premium.

Currency Exchange on New York per cent premium.

Currency Exchange on San Francisco ½ per cent premium.

The week so far has developed nothing new in financial matters. There is some little increase in the demand for loans from parties contemplating improvement, but the call from people in trade is falling off slightly. With a fair supply of capital offering, both by the banks and other parties, there can hardly be said to be an active condition of business, and funds of no unimportant amount are idle for want of favorable opportunities for investment.

The progress toward a prosperous condition in business in our State, as well as in other parts of the country, is very slow. The spring trade generally, so far, has been less extensive and not more profitable than average, the backwardness of the season having retarded materially the demand for goods which it was thought might follow the season's purchase. There is, however, a steady realization from producers for their staples: indebtedness is being gradually reduced and economy seems to be the feature of the hour everywhere. There is a well-founded belief in the minds of the trades people that the bottom has been touched, and that with the permanent inauguration of the spring and summer trade, and the necessary activities of the Centennial year, a new start will be made which, though not accomplishing great results in a short time, will yet be hopeful in indications for the future.

Apropos of the silver question, another unusual point in regard to the value of the metal has just been decided in the Philadelphia court of common pleas. A mortgage was made in 1846 and fell due in 1848. A tender of 10,000 silver half dollars was made. The holder of the mortgage contended that the payment must be made in 5,000 silver dollars, the difference in value between silver dollars and half dollars being now considerable. The Philadelphia court of common pleas, however, decides that silver money of any denomination was a legal tender in any amount at the time the mortgage fell due; it was payable in lawful silver money, without reference to the denomination.

The Toronto Globe says that American silver is again becoming quite a nuisance in several of the Canadian towns, and that merchants are sighing to be rid of it.

Ocean Freights.

It is apparent that shipowners are giving an increased attention to the carrying trade of the Pacific coast, and it is not likely there will in future seasons be any general scarcity in the tonnage. On the Atlantic coast the depression in the ocean carrying trade continues. The grain trade thence to Liverpool is now squarely down to 4d per bushel, long since declared to be the minimum figures that would be accepted by the different steamship companies. All other freights are equally depressed. The Shipping List thinks that the whole difficulty is directly traceable to the consequence of over action in the commercial world, stimulated by the late wars.

The Oregon Clipper.

The San Francisco Bulletin says:

"The arrival of the Coos Bay-built ship Western Shore at Queenstown, on the 8th, in a passage of 101 days from Astoria, Oregon, clearly places her in the front rank of American sailing ships. This vessel left the stocks at Coos Bay in November, 1874, and every spread of her canvas has been attended with satisfactory results. Her model evidently combines fast sailing qualities, and this under the guidance of her commander, who is a part owner has given her a splendid record thus far. Her first trip to sea was from Coos Bay to San Francisco, which was made in three days, the vessel arriving on the 19th November, 1874. On the 28th January 1874, she passed through the Golden Gate on her first voyage to Liverpool, with a cargo of wheat. She was then uncoppered, and made the trip in 105 days. After being sheathed and loaded, she returned to San Francisco in 110 days. Arriving here on the 31st October, having been less than eight months in making the round trip including detention at Liverpool. On the 28th November, 1875 she left here for the Columbia river, and made the run to Astoria in 76 hours arriving ahead of the steamer Oriflamme, which left ten hours in advance. Her last achievement of 101 days to Queenstown, only confirms the favorable opinions heretofore expressed, and suggests the idea that more ships shall be built after her model."

LAND FOR IMMIGRANTS.

Choice Farms for Sale.

4,000 ACRES, IN QUANTITIES TO SUIT PURCHASERS.

230 ACRES DUE SOUTH AND ADJOINING the Railroad Depot at Salem, all under cultivation, and suitable for grain or vegetables.

946 Acres, four miles southeast of Salem, on the railroad, with Mill creek running through it. This is the choicest farming land in Marion county, with fine springs, consisting in part of the old Rector donation claim, on which I raised the past year fifty bushels of wheat and three tons of timothy per acre. The first crop of oats ever raised on part of this land measured ninety-four bushels per acre, grain weighed and ground and cleaned by Mr. Alfred Stanton, of Salem.

3,700 Acres of prairie and light brush land, with timber for farming purposes, bounded by the Willamette River for four miles, beautiful lake on the east, boat landings all along the river, commencing four miles north of Salem—all choice grain land—the largest and most suitable body of land to be found in the Willamette Valley to be purchased by a colony. To be sold from $15 to $25 per acre. This land will all be immediately resurveyed, and can be sold in larger or smaller parcels, to suit purchasers. It can be subdivided to the best possible advantage, and I can offer any person or persons, or colony of persons, desiring to purchase land in the best part of the Willamette Valley, near the city of Salem and within reach of the best social advantages, as well as most favorably located with respect to markets, greater advantages, on more favorable terms, than they can ever expect to realize again.
